

Democrats to Open State Convention

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Rep. Oren Harris, D-Ark., told fellow Democrats today that Arkansas Republicans are "a group of amateurs whose sole qualification for public office seems to be their demonstrated talent for grumbling and whining."

Harris was keynote speaker at the state Democratic Convention and he set the stage for a Democratic team effort in the November general election.

The congressman, one of four major officeholders facing GOP opposition in November, declared that Arkansas "cannot afford to sacrifice tested (Democratic) leadership for (this) group of amateurs."

Earlier, a platform subcommittee took Republicans to task in a resolution for allegedly evading the state's compulsory primary law by having uncontested races.

This was the only significant new action by the subcommittee. There had been indications the convention, facing a stronger than average Republican bid this fall, might come up with some major platform planks.

Harris called on Democrats to "close ranks and support the party which unprecedented prosperity of our state for the past few years."

"We have had our differences, not unusual to the Democrats of Arkansas, and I think that we can be reasonably assured it will happen in the future," Harris said. "Our nominees have been chosen. Not all of us were successful in realizing the candidate of our choice, but they are now the nominees of all Democrats."

Harris praised the administration of Gov. Orval E. Faubus and said Arkansas' Democratic congressional delegation may be "small in number, but powerful in position."

"Of the two senators and four House members, four of us will be chairmen of the most important committees of the Congress, providing it is a Democratic-controlled Congress," Harris said.

"And let me remind you here and now how important it is to the South and, in my judgment, the nation to have a Democratic Congress."

Most of Money Went to Teachers

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The state Department of Education said Tuesday over $70,000 of the $1 million salary bonus distributed to 418 school districts in Arkansas was paid to teachers.

There was $70,541 paid to 8,734 class room teachers, Education Commissioner Arch Ford said. He said 6,719 teachers received no cash benefits.

Ford said $44,163 of the $1 million went to other school employees and officials. The remaining $285,236, he said, would be distributed as desired by local boards, but probably will go for operating costs.

Average teacher bonus was $76.77, Ford said. Other school officials received from $52.80 to $92.70.

President Gets Pledges, 'We Shall Be First'

By WHITNEY SHOEMAKER

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — President Kennedy said today the nation's conscience requires it to lead the world's drive into space.

He said peace and security hang in the balance. Kennedy demanded a "bold and daring and unflinching" effort to land a man on the moon—a goal he has set for this decade.

"We cannot shrink from it now," the President said in a speech prepared for delivery at Rice University Stadium.

"The United States, he said, must become 'the world's leading spacefaring nation.' Starting the homeward leg of his two-day survey of space facilities, Kennedy said his administration commands bipartisan support in seeking world leadership.

"We are pledged to make it a reality," he said. Kennedy said the United States is entering a new age of exploration and claimed genuine progress.

Forty of the 45 satellites which have circled the globe during his time in office have been made in this country and they "supplied far more knowledge to the people of the world than those of the Soviet Union," he said.

Although behind the Soviet Union in manned flight, Kennedy asserted "we do not intend to stay behind."

To back up its vow that space will be filled with instruments of knowledge rather than destruction, he said the United States is forced to take the lead.

"In short," he said, "our leadership in science and industry, our hopes for peace and security, our obligations as a first-class country, all require us to make this effort, to solve these mysteries, to solve them for the good of all men, and to become the world's leading spacefaring nation."

Kennedy promised economy-minded skeptics of big spending on space exploration that the government would invest money only when greater returns were guaranteed.

Elections Around the Nation

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

In a slam-bang primary, New Hampshire Republicans have ousted Gov. Wesley Powell's bid for a third term and Rep. Perkins Bass claimed the GOP Senate nomination in a four-way race that went to the wire.

It was a tempestuous end to one of the wildest political campaigns in the state New England state's history and was the most eye-catching of the primaries in nine states Tuesday.

Powell's shot at renomination was cut off by John Pillsbury 44, a former utility executive. Pillsbury will run in November against John W. King, Democratic leader of the New Hampshire House.

But it was the New Hampshire Senate scramble that caught fire. Unofficial figures had Bass squeezing by Dolores Bridges, widow of the late Sen. Styles Bridges. The contest was over the nomination for the last four years of her husband's term.

Also-rans were Rep. Chester E. Morrow, a liberal Republican, and conservative Sen. Maurice J. Murphy Jr., who holds Bridges' seat in this session.

Minnesota also turned out a high-voltage contest as 24-year congressional veteran H. Carl Anderson was apparently beaten in a battle for the 4th District Republican nomination for Congress.

Anderson—plagued by links with the Billie Sol Estes case—lost out to State Rep. Robert J. Odgers, 41, a comparative political novice.

Development Potential Unlimited

Arkansas, with all of its scenic beauty, great natural resources and friendly people, is truly the land of opportunity with a potential growth and development that is unlimited, declared Elton H. Donaubauer of Little Rock in a speech yesterday before the Hope Kiwanis Club.

He was the second Arkansas good will ambassador to appear before the club in the past two weeks to tell the story of "Arkansas on the Move." Bob Wimberley of Arkansas Power & Light Co., having appeared here last week.

With all of the enthusiasm and pride of a "Native Texan" he launched into his speech with the assertion that the Great South-west was the fastest growing area in the nation, outside of California and Nevada.

He pointed to much progress that had been made in Arkansas the past 12 years and said this was only the beginning of greater things to come in the near future.

He praised tireless community leaders who sacrifice their time for the betterment of the state, and who go all-out to tell the story of Arkansas to the nation.

The program was arranged by Clifford Franks. Guests included Vance Marcum, B. N. Holt and Bert Peter, the latter of Hot Springs.

Marlar Ask Change of Venue

TEXARKANA, Ark. (AP) — A request for change of venue in the trial of Jerrell K. Marlar on a first degree murder charge was taken under advisement Tuesday by Miller County Circuit Judge Lyle Brown.

Marlar, charged with the killing of Thomas Bond of Bossier City, La., petition through his court-appointed attorneys Sept. 4 for a change in the place of his trial.

The action Tuesday came after a five-hour hearing in which several witnesses for both the defense and the state were called.

Marlar said in the motion that "the minds of the inhabitants of Miller County are so prejudiced against him that he cannot be given a fair and impartial trial."

Marlar is also charged with two counts of escape from the Miller County jail. A co-defendant in the case, Welda Lee Derr, has pleaded innocent and will be tried separately. Marlar has not entered a plea to charges against him.

Raymond Scoggins, Slim Ferguson and A. L. Crawford Jr. of Texarkana and E. A. Morris of Garland testified Tuesday that Marlar could not receive a fair trial. County Judge B. B. Lanier testified he had heard the case discussed frequently in the city.

Sheriff Rudy Burgess and Constable Marlin Giles said they believed Marlar could get a fair trial in the circuit court.

Brown indicated he may decide today where the trial will be held.

Says Harris Out of State Too Much

PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP) — Republican candidate for U.S. Representative Warren Liebong charged Tuesday his opponent, Rep. Oren Harris, D-Ark., hasn't spent enough time in the state to know what his constituents want.

Liebong said he had been well-received by voters in the state during visits and that he was running partly because many of Harris' constituents had told him it was time the district got someone who could represent the people.

He said during a visit to Norphlet, in south Arkansas, people treated him warmly.

"I have questioned many people at Norphlet," he said, "who have never seen Harris except on television, and these people expressed their appreciation of a man asking for their votes in person."

He said he will open his campaign Monday with a breakfast. A series of other breakfasts will follow at Pine Bluff, M. Dorado, Texarkana and Hot Springs, he said, where "fresh eggs and fresh issues" will be served.

Asks Pressure on Allies to End Cuba Trade

By ERNEST B. VACCARO

WASHINGTON (AP) — An administration Senate leader speaking against a backdrop of Soviet threats over Cuba has urged stronger pressure on U.S. allies to halt military and strategic shipments to the Communist outpost in the Caribbean.

Some allies have been "putting profit before the larger interests of the free world," charged Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, assistant Democratic leader.

However, the Minnesota senator scoffed Tuesday at the contention of some Republicans that the build-up in Cuba is a threat to the United States. But, he said, it did threaten other Latin American nations and the United States should not "sit idly by and watch the traffic in chains for Cuba."

Humphrey was joined by Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, R-N.Y., in urging some "plain talking" with U.S. allies. Keating said he had been urging such a course for some time.

In his Senate speech Humphrey said "Castro should know that we will discourage by all diplomatic means the shipment of military and strategic supplies to Cuba via free world transport."

He turned his sharpest fire on "Republican jingoists" he said "have been shouting for an invasion of Cuba."

They know, Humphrey said, that there is "enough American firepower afloat off Cuba at any one moment to destroy every major Communist installation in Cuba in a few hours."

"We know exactly where these installations are, and Castro is well aware of what we know," Humphrey proposed a flat declaration that any Cuban aggression against U.S. ships or installations, or against neighboring nations will be met by force, with or without the support of the Organization of American States.

Asks Ruling From State Committee

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — J. G. Boudra of Morrilton said Tuesday he has asked the state Democratic Committee to rule on whether he may be seated on the Conway County committee.

The committee refused Boudra a seat on the committee last month, saying he had voted Republican and served as an election clerk in a GOP election.

Boudra defeated T. J. Chorton for the post, 12 to 80.

Cattle Swindle Ring Reported

ROGERS, Ark. (AP) — Benton County authorities said Tuesday a group that may be operating throughout the Midwest, swindling cattlemen.

Sheriff Hugh Black revealed two August incidents in which he said one cattlemen was swindled out of $7,000 worth of livestock and the Bentonville Livestock Auction Co. was taken for nearly $2,000.

The sheriff said a man bought 7 head of cattle Aug. 8 from the Benton County cattlemen and paid for them with a check. Later he gave the auction company a check for $1,939 for 18 head. Both checks bounced.

He reported a similar incident in East St. Louis, Ill. involving $3,510 worth of cattle.

Competition Blamed for Steel Action

By JOHN CHADWICK

WASHINGTON (AP) — Steel company executives who have company executives subpoenaed production-cost data to Senate investigators said today disclosure of the information would be invaluable to foreign competitors.

They also said it would have a serious domestic impact, greatly damaging their ability to compete with producers of aluminum, plastic, glass and other materials which can be substituted for steel in some uses.

Thomas E. Patton, president of the Republic Steel Corp. of Cleveland, testified before the Senate Judiciary Committee as spokesman for executives of four companies that refused to comply with the subpoenas.

The subpoenas were issued by the Senate Antitrust and Monopoly subcommittee, a unit of the Judiciary Committee, after a $6-a-ton steel price increase was announced last April.

The price increase was quickly rescinded under pressure from President Kennedy.

The subcommittee, headed by Sen. Estes Kefauver, D-Tenn., recommended on Aug. 31 after the steel executives failed to appear in response to the subpoenas, that they be cited for contempt of Congress.

Patton told the full committee that there never has been any intent on the part of the steel companies or their officials to defy the Senate or the antitrust subcommittee.

Big Moonshine Still Seized, Two Arrested

Perhaps the largest moonshine operation ever discovered in Hempstead County has been broken up, Sheriff Jimmie Griffin said today.

"It looked like a small village," the Sheriff said telling about the still located about 10 miles north of Hope near the DeAnn community. They even had sheds built over the operation, he declared.

The Sheriff, ATU and ABC officers destroyed a 20 gallon capacity rig, seized between 1,100 and 1,200 gallons of liquor, destroyed 1,900 gallons of mash, seized an old model truck and arrested two persons.

W. M. Hardin, white, who leased the land where the still was found was arrested as was William Tyree, Negro, who was taken at the site of the still. Both were to be arraigned before a U.S. Commissioner at Texarkana, later today.

The Sheriff said Hardin was arrested at his home. He said the truck, registered in Hardin's name, and its load of 248 gallons of whiskey was found in the woods near Hardin's home. The Sheriff said the liquor alone was worth at least $6,000 on the wholesale market.

Meat Prices Already Up in Arkansas

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Arkansans are already paying a 10 percent higher price for meat and will probably pay more, because of the farmers strike in the midwest.

This was the word of the Arkansas Independent Meatpackers Association Tuesday.

Arkansas packers have a good supply of livestock and do not expect a shortage, Buddy Finkbeiner of Little Rock, president, said. But he added that because of the midwest meat market shortage, producers in this state and Missouri have been able to demand, and receive, more for their livestock.

Finkbeiner said retail prices are already up because of the controlling factors of the midwest markets.

"Our costs are going up and any business that has increased costs without increased prices is in trouble," he added.

"So far," he said, "we've been able to supply all our orders and don't anticipate any shortages."

Finkbeiner said Arkansas independent packers get their supplies from areas other than the midwest, which is hardest hit by the withholding program of the National Farmers Organization.

These packers, he said, supply about 5 per cent of the state's meat products in normal times and are now trying to take up the slack in the output of major companies.

Finkbeiner said he thought the withholding program of the NFO, initiated in an effort to increase prices, is weakening.

"They probably won't last another two weeks," he said.

But in Corning, Iowa Oren Lee Staley said last week, "We're very close to victory. Staley is president of the NFO."

The investigation will be continued, the jury said.

UNEMPLOYMENT RATE BY OCCUPATION

WHO ARE THE UNEMPLOYED—About 4.5 million workers are currently unemployed in America. By occupation, unskilled laborers are by far the leaders in rate of unemployment. The figures in chart above are for the first quarter of 1962. Seasonal industries like construction and farming swell unemployment rolls during their slack periods, as do students seeking part-time summer work. Of the 4.5 million unemployed, 37 per cent had been out of work less than five weeks. Data from Better Living magazine and United States Bureau of Labor Statistics.

NOSTALGIC SCENE—A scene from out of the past comes to life in a hay meadow on the J. M. Ross farm near Pittsburg, Kan., as Ross bales hay just as farmers did a half century ago. Gray horse, traveling in a guided circle, provides the motive power. A team of bay horses hitched to a rarely-seen bulldrake bring the hay to the baler, and Ross alternates between driving the team and pitching hay. Times have really changed.

"great vote of confidence" in the Republican senatorial jaunt, beating off the challenge of Arlyn F. Wollenburg, a former teacher. Wiley, 78, will test Gov. Gaylord Nelson, unchallenged for the Democratic senatorial nomination.

RHODE ISLAND — Democrats nominated Gov. John A. Nott Jr. for a second term over Woonsocket Mayor Kevin C. Coleman. In November Nott will be matched with John H. Chafee, Rhode Island House minority leader who blistered Louis V. Javits in the Republican primary.

VERMONT — W. Robert Johnson, 54, a businessman chasing votes for the first time, scored an upset by defeating former Rep. William H. Meyer for the Democratic senatorial nod. Johnson will face an old hand in November—Republican George D. Aiken, now in his 22nd year in the Senate.

Neither Republican Gov. F. Ray Keyser Jr., nor the Democratic gubernatorial nominee, Philip Huff, a state representative, were opposed.

COLORADO — Corporation lawyer John A. Love won the Republican nomination for governor in his first shot at an elective office. He trounced David A. Hamill, rural electrification administrator in the Eisenhower administration and a GOP nominee for governor in 1948. Love's opponent in November will be Gov. Stephen L.R. McNichols, whom Democrats picked for a third term and was not opposed.

Democratic Sen. John A. Carroll was unchallenged as was his GOP senatorial rival, Rep. Peter H. Dominick.

NEW HAMPSHIRE — New Hampshire's other Senate seat was also up, but Republican Senator Norris Cotton had little trouble from Norman Lapage, a perennial candidate.

On the Democratic side, Thomas J. McIntyre, for the four-year term, and Alfred Catalfo, for the full term, were not opposed.

A Democratic primary will be run off today in Georgia. The real stake there is the governor's spot. Ernest Vandiver drops the executive reins in January and five candidates are willing to pick them up. The principal contenders are former Gov. Marvin Griffin and State Sen. Carl E. Sanders.

Sen. Herman Talmadge faces only token opposition in his re-nomination contest. Republicans have not entered candidates for governor or senator in the general election.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Television station KATV of Little Rock, Ark., has withdrawn a request for permission to increase its power at its present transmitter location near Pine Bluff, Ark., the Communications Commission announced Monday.

A later KATV application, for authority to move its transmitter to a site between Little Rock and Hot Springs, still is pending before the commission.

Pine Bluff interests are opposing the later application.

serve "any proper legislative purpose of the subcommittee."

If the contempt charges are pressed, the dispute could bring a court test of how far congressional committees may go in compelling business firms to disclose information about their operations.

Contempt is punishable by a $1,000 fine or a year in jail, or both. The Judiciary Committee decided last week it would hear the steel executives' side of the case before acting on the contempt recommendation.

The four companies that have balked at furnishing data on costs and pricing are the Bethlehem, Republic, National and Armco.

Eight other major steel companies, including U.S. Steel, have agreed under protest to submit the data. They have been excused from doing so, however, until the question of compliance by the four other companies is settled.

In refusing to hand in the data, the four steel companies have contended the figures are highly confidential and that disclosure would damage them competitively, both at home and abroad. They also questioned the legality of the subcommittee's action.

After their refusal, Kefauver's unit issued "second-chance" subpoenas that directed nine top officials of the corporations to appear in person on Aug. 31 and to produce the cost data.

When the steel executives failed to appear, the subcommittee's Democratic majority asked that they be cited for contempt.

The contempt citations must be approved by both the Judiciary Committee and the Senate before being sent to the Justice Department for possible action.

Rules on Equipment

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Arkansas Supreme Court ruled Monday that a chancery judge has authority to enjoin a county judge from using county equipment on private projects. The finding reversed Palk Chancellor Ber Shaver, who held, in a suit against County Judge Roy Stockton, that he was powerless to act. The Supreme Court said that if the chancery court could not handle the case, a taxpayer would have no relief.

Thinks Castro May Free Prisoners

NEW YORK (AP)—Trouble-shooter James B. Donovan says he believes the Castro government of Cuba may be persuaded to free the Bay of Pigs invasion prisoners for humanitarian reasons.

Donovan, who represents the Cuban Families Committee for the Liberation of Prisoners of War, suggests the Cuban government might free the 1,100-odd prisoners in view of Cuba's compelling need for such necessities as "food and medicines for Cuban infants, children, the sick and the aged."

He says his organization could provide these items.

Donovan, who returned here last week from negotiations in Cuba, discussed the outlook with newsmen Monday night.

Donovan said he probably will return to Cuba shortly to resume the prisoner negotiations after he consults with his supporters here.

Donovan, 46, a Brooklyn lawyer, negotiated the release of U2 pilot Francis Gary Powers by the Russians in exchange for Col. Rudolf Abel, Soviet spy who had been imprisoned here.

Committeeman Named

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP)—The Garland County Democratic Central Committee re-elected Jacob King as chairman Monday. King, chairman since 1948 and a supporter of a move which resulted in abolition of 11 of the county's 26 townships, defeated David Stamper 26-14. Stamper is a committeeman from Mountain Valley Township, one of those abolished.

gress in January."

The platform subcommittee, headed by James Pilkinton of Hope, Sen. J. William Fulbright's campaign manager, voted to stress the seniority of Democratic congressmen and endorsed the Faubus administration. It also endorsed Faubus' stand on integration of public schools and reaffirmed the state party's belief in states rights.

The subcommittee's report will be considered by the full platform committee tonight.

Tom Harper, Democratic state chairman, told the platform committee Tuesday night he felt the party needed a "vigorous, firm expression of its attitudes. The new platform, he said, would replace the "scatterload" one the Party had sometimes had.

Willis Ricketts of Fayetteville, Faubus' opponent, charged Tuesday night the Democratic Party has never stated its principles.

Harris, opposed by Warren Liebking of Pine Bluff, spoke at noon. Rep. J. W. Trimble, faced by Cy Carney Jr., of Fayetteville is permanent convention chairman. Fulbright was to speak this afternoon. He is opposed by Dr. Kenneth Jones of Little Rock.

Faubus will close the convention with a talk Thursday.

The convention marks a rare serious note in Arkansas politics prior to the general election. The Democrats have been inclined in the past to take Republican candidates lightly.

But this year there are more of them providing opposition. They have been highly active politically, and the Democrats aren't taking any chances.

Technical purpose of the convention is to certify party candidates nominated in the primaries for the general election. That routine business is expected to be handled quickly Thursday morning before committee reports are heard.

In other business, Trimble, of Berryville, will be named permanent convention chairman; Ben Butler of Osceola, secretary and Sheriff Bob Moore of Desha County, sergeant-at-arms.

District caucuses are set today to name state central committee members.

In strengthening party support for candidates, the Democrats will also hear Rep. Dale Alford and Rep. Catherine Norrell today.

The party has opened a state campaign headquarters in Little Rock and said it will be used to back candidates with Republican opposition.

In other business Tuesday night the Platform Committee tabled a suggestion from the Lincoln Coun-seat Rice Stadium started the last round of his journey from Huntsville, Ala., and Cape Canaveral Tuesday to the Manned Spacecraft Center here and McDonnell Aircraft plant in St. Louis today.

A crowd estimated by police at 200,000 lined roads leading from Houston Airport and on downtown sidewalks to welcome Kennedy.

Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson, traveling with Kennedy but on a separate plane, got his share of the applause from fellow Texans.

Kennedy was expected to exhort the crowds, most of the 14-mile journey to his hotel. Outgoing Gov. Price Daniel and Mayor Lewis Cutrer of Houston rode with him.

The White House calls Kennedy's trip a wholly business affair but politics edged in.

Rep. Bob Casey, D-Tex., whose district includes Houston, complained from Washington that he was "grievously injured" by the President's failure to invite him to come along on the visit.

Rep. Albert Thomas, D-Tex., who represents another district in the Houston area, is making the entire trip at presidential invitation.

White House press secretary Pierre Salinger said members of Congress in the traveling party are ranking figures on committees directly concerned with space programs. Thomas heads the Space Appropriations subcommittee. Casey is a member of the Space and Astronautics Committee.

Responding to Casey, Salinger said: "I can't understand his trying to make political capital out of what is patently a nonpolitical trip."

Casey has opposed the administration on foreign aid for Communist nations, introducing amendments to prohibit such aid.

546 in Med School

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—University of Arkansas Medical Center officials announced Monday that enrollment for the 1962-63 school year has reached a record 546 students, 27 more than last year. The breakdown shows 104 freshman students in the School of Medicine, another record.

Democratic Committee to try to keep people from voting both by absentee ballot and in the general election.

This would be done by indicating in the list of poll tax payers those who have already voted absentee.

Bids on School

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Bids on construction of a new state vocational technical school at Morrilton will be opened by the state Board of Education Oct. 9. Plans were approved Monday. The board has $275,000 to spend on the school but said only $250,000 will be used for construction with the remaining $25,000 allocated for equipment.

Trimble, Harris Main Speakers

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Reps. Oren Harris and James Trimble, both of whom have Republican opposition in the November general election, will be the main speakers Wednesday in the opening session of the Arkansas Democratic State Convention.

The Democrats are expected to mount their toughest attack on the Republicans, mainly because the Republicans are doing likewise to the Democrats.

Harris, who is opposed by Warren Liebling of Pine Bluff, will make the keynote address and Trimble, who is opposed by Cy Carney, Jr. of Fayetteville, will speak after he is named permanent chairman of the convention.

Harvey Combs, assistant party secretary, probably set the tone for the convention in a talk with Harris, in which Harris asked what tack he should take in the keynote address.

"Give the Republicans hell," Combs said he told Harris. And he said the congressman promised to do just that.

Son-In-Law Trapped
in Crossfire

By ELEN WORDEN ERSKINE

Dear Helen: My husband and I hope you can help us with our problem — a son-in-law who acts as if we were invading Martians.

When he and our daughter married we were delighted. A nicer, quieter fellow couldn't be found. His folks didn't measure up to him in quality but then, what in-laws do? "And, anyway," I said to my husband, "we're not marrying them."

His father and mother got high at the wedding and took it as a personal insult when we wouldn't match them drink for drink. My husband said, "Don't hold it against them. After all, they're losing their only son."

We held our first few years off the marriage. Poor kids, it was a case of sink or swim and they couldn't swim alone. Once they had a backlog we told our son-in-law that his buying food for two households held to stop. He blazed out at our "holier-than-thou attitude" using the very same words his folks used at the wedding, which showed they had been poisoning his mind toward us, then stalked off.

He tells our daughter that she and the baby may visit us but not to expect him to because he won't. On the other hand he feels she should go with him to his folks whenever he asks her.

He still defends them even though they have become confirmed alcoholics. Our daughter says he will grow up one of these days. We feel he is not going to learn alone and that it's up to her to straighten out his thinking. My husband and I have come to the end of our rope. —Lonely Mom and Dad

Dear Lonely Mom and Dad: Much as your hearts yearned for the young people, you two should have let them fend for themselves from the very beginning. We had a similar case in our own family. By fooling the bills you destroy the youngsters' initiative will be held Wednesday to select members for the state central committee.

and undermine their character. To attempt to run their lives is a hazardous business. You may all wind up in the ditch.

As for the in-laws, de-personalize them. Do that for the son-in-law too. See him as the nice fellow you originally found him to be. Keep the contact with his parents on a friendly rather than in-law relationship. Their drinking is their problem, not yours. Build up your own life, making it so attractive that they will boast of having you in the family!

Dear Helen: The boy with whom I've been going was in a terrible automobile accident and badly hurt in both legs. Some said he would never walk again. We were engaged but my mother wanted me to break off. She said not being able to walk, he couldn't work.

Now he is walking and working though his legs give him trouble. I love him more than ever but my heart is breaking, for I learned yesterday that he's been dating another girl. We planned to be married soon. What shall I do? —Forsaken

Dear Forsaken: Loyalty is a two-way thing. The boy should show his appreciation of your loyalty by being faithful too. Since he doesn't, beware. This incident may be a warning. Weigh the consequences of continuing the relationship. Irrespective of his injuries, married life with a person who lacks the capacity to be loyal, would be disastrous. Your mother may instinctively sense this. After all, she has only your interest at heart. Listen to her!

Dear Helen: Why are you forever pulling teen-agers down instead of building us up? You're against our dating, wearing make-up or having any fun. As a sophomore in high, I feel adult enough to do all these things within reason. You write as if there were big, bad wolves lurking around every corner. Give us credit for some character and judgment. —Faithful Reader

Dear Faithful: It's the brash-

Not Afraid of Russia, Rusk Declares

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dean Rusk said today this country is not frightened by Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's warning against any American attack on Cuba.

"We are a great country," Rusk told reporters. "We are not nervous or afraid. We'll proceed as we find it necessary."

Rusk made his observations after leaving a closed session of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee where he briefed members on the agenda for the forthcoming United Nations General Assembly session.

The secretary did not elaborate on his remarks about the Soviet statement. His observations came on the heels of congressional reaction ranging from descriptions of the Soviet statement as sheer propaganda to demands for sterner U.S. action to prevent the establishment of a Communist military beachhead in Cuba.

Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana, the Senate Democratic leader, led off for those who saw sheer propaganda in the Kremlin declaration, saying the Soviets "know full well they have erected a straw man for the purpose of knocking it down."

Sen. Frank J. Lausche, D-Ohio, stated the case for the other approach. He promised support for "whatever firmer action" President Kennedy decides to take with respect to Cuba.

"We cannot continue to be pushed and pushed offensively by Khrushchev and Castro, while we are retreating and retreating," he said of Khrushchev and Cuba's Prime Minister Fidel Castro.

"They are trying to create a situation they can use for its propaganda value," Mansfield told a reporter.

"As always, we will determine for ourselves what our foreign policy will be. We do not need or want any gratuitous advice or counsel from the Soviet Union."

Lausche, a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, told newsmen:

"Common sense precludes the assumption that while in Cuba there are missiles of 25-mile spoken who get into trouble. By pushing the calendar you're likely to run into some pretty hard experiences. I'm all for girls dating and having a whirl in life but not until they are 18.

range there are not at the same time missiles of an intermediate range. The Monroe Doctrine has been violated. There is a definite threat to our national security 90 miles from our shores."

Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., chairman of the Senate Latin American Affairs subcommittee, told newsmen: "In my judgment, the Cuban problem could develop into a serious crisis if Russia decides to make Cuba a beachhead for an offensive against the United States."

"I'm not at all concerned about Khrushchev's semantics, and his bluffs, either," Morse said.

Morse said his subcommittee will meet Wednesday afternoon with Edward M. Martin, assistant secretary of State for Latin American affairs, for a conference on Cuban developments.

Tower said in a statement that Khrushchev "has resorted to his usual techniques of threats and saber-rattling in an attempt to intimidate the Western Allies and to spread confusion among them."

Subsequently, in a Senate speech, Tower said the time has come for Congress to recommend "some resolute and decisive action" to the President for dealing with Cuba.

Marshall's Appointment Goes Through

By JAMES MARLOW Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy has appointed four Jews and six Catholics to the Supreme Court. But none has ever named a Negro to this highest tribunal. The closest to that for a Negro has been the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals. One is there now, Judge William Hastie on the appellate bench in Philadelphia. Today another comes before the Senate for approval.

He is Thurgood Marshall whom President Kennedy appointed over a year ago to the U.S. 2nd Circuit Court of Appeals, which serves New York, Connecticut and Vermont. Marshall has led a dedicated life.

Since the 1830s

as chief counsel for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People—he has steered this nation's most famous racial desegregation cases to success in the Supreme Court.

It was a long, historic fight to make possible the more direct action being taken today in the South by Negroes and whites in freedom rides, passive resistance and other forms of protest against racial segregation.

Almost certainly these protests would have been impossible without the work done by Marshall and the NAACP. Ironically, some anti-segregationists today seem to think the Marshall-NAACP tactics are too slow, too negative.

Kennedy named Marshall to the 2nd Circuit Court on Sept. 23, 1961. It was a cinch he would run into some bottlenecks, before he got approval in a Senate where Southern Democrats held powerful positions.

The Senate quit for 1961 with out acting on the Marshall nomination. On Oct. 23, President Kennedy gave Marshall an interim appointment, which put him on the court until the Senate re-ruled out segregation in public schools. When the government backed up this ruling, resistance in the South began to crumble. It is not yet all gone—but it is mortally deat.

turned this year.

From January until last week a Senate Judiciary subcommittee, headed by Olin D. Johnston, South Carolina Democrat, prolonged consideration of Marshall until finally Kennedy and Northern liberals protested.

Last week the full committee, headed by Sen. James Eastland, Mississippi Democrat, approved Marshall. The vote was 11 to 4. Four Southern Democrats voted against.

Then the nomination went to the full Senate for approval or disapproval and, no doubt, debate.

The fight Marshall made had its immediate roots in 1960 when the Supreme Court made racial segregation in the United States official with a decision which said it was all right to segregate Negroes in public places provided the treatment they got was equal to that given whites.

As history showed, the treatment Negroes got turned out to be anything but equal.

In a country which prides itself on equal justice under law, Negroes in view of that 1948 court verdict, could take one of two courses: direct action—even though peaceful—in the form of demonstrations or passive resistance. Or, fighting in the courts in hope of overturning eventually the decision of 1946.

Marshall and the NAACP took the road through the courts, knowing it would be a long, case-by-case struggle, based on the idea of chipping away at the 1893 verdict by repeated victories in a later Supreme Court.

This was not a fantasy. If the Supreme Court in the end reversed the ruling of 1893 it would not be the first time in history that the court had done that to itself.

So Marshall began the journey through the courts, fighting segregation in the higher levels of education—and in other public places like buses, housing, trains—and finally getting down to the primary schools.

Those who think a more direct course would have been the faster read seem to overlook a few realities. In the decade of the 1940s—when Marshall and the NAACP began their long fight—119 Negroes were lynched in this country. These figures are cited by the U.S. Commission on Civil Rights.

Besides, at a time when the 1893 decision still made segregation the general law, direct actionists would have been under a handicap. The American attitude toward segregation underwent a slow change.

Marshall's greatest victory came on May 17, 1954, when the court undid the work of 1896 and ruled out segregation in public schools. When the government backed up this ruling, resistance in the South began to crumble. It is not yet all gone—but it is mortally deat.

AIR AGE FIRST—First express shipment in history by airplane took place on Nov. 7, 1910 when Phillip O. Parmelee, shown in old photograph above, flew a 60-pound bolt of silk in a Wright biplane from Dayton to Columbus, Ohio. On Sept. 1, 1927 the first fleet of airplanes began regularly scheduled air cargo service—now known as REA Express. U.S. airlines are observing the 35th anniversary of that event by designating September as "Air Express Month."

AIR-CONDITIONED—Space-age feed yard worker wears air-conditioned helmet while driving scoop shovel in thermal, Calif., where the temperature sometimes soars to 120 degrees. With the helmet, workers are able to work continuously. Previously, heat forced them to rest at frequent intervals. Thermal often is the nation's hottest city.

Ordeal at Comanche Wells

THE STORY: Deputy Youngblood has decided to stick with the sheriff, till the trouble in Comanche Wells ends.

The sheriff already had a trip planned for him, out 12 miles east to the little spread of Earnest Long, who had worn the sheriff's badge before Bell.

He reached the place an hour before sundown. He led the big bay down and tied him at the horse trough, and ex-sheriff Long came out of the barn to meet him. The man had a weathered and hard-bitten look about him.

"I didn't just come out here to visit, Mr. Long," Youngblood said. "Sheriff Bell sent me. He would sure be obliged if you could get in to talk to him in the next few days."

"I can't, Youngblood. I'm working seven days a week. I got fences to fix and a tank to clean out before the fall rains. I'll have a man in town for provisions in the next few days, but I don't aim to be in myself for a month."

He spoke as if he already had guessed what the sheriff wanted and as if it were already settled in his mind.

"Well, I don't reckon it's any big secret, Mr. Long," Youngblood said. "It's this Ivey trouble. The sheriff needs every kind of help he can get. He said he'd be mighty obliged if he could just talk to you. He's always spoken highly of you as a law officer."

Stockholders Blamed for Market Dip

By SAM DAWSON AP Business News Analyst

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP)—Widening popularity of stock ownership among Americans—either as individuals or collectively through mutual funds or pension funds—can in itself have been a factor in the sharp ups and downs in stock prices that this year have confused many of the new owners.

How big a factor was argued, with the help of slide rules, at one of the meetings here of the American Statistical Association.

The large inflow of individual savings into the funds and then into the markets helped boost prices, some economists hold. And then this year switching of issues has added to the unsettlement.

Statisticians say that the buying and selling policies of the mutual funds, and even more of the pension funds, are giving the market a new look. Part of the funds' buying of stocks was compulsive, they hold, because the funds themselves were growing so fast and had to put money to work.

Mutual fund managers stoutly rejected any implication that the operation of the funds hasn't been to the best interest of their shareholders, or that their stock market activities caused the price breaks in May and June or the dawdling of the market in recent days.

Contending that mutual fund purchases significantly affected price movements of individual stocks is Douglas Vickers, one of the University of Pennsylvania professors who worked on the controversial Wharton School survey of mutual fund performances for the Securities & Exchange Commission.

Even more influential is stock buying by the pension funds, says Vito Natrella, assistant director of the SEC division of trading and exchanges.

Vickers says funds tend to buy on balance prior to upswings and to sell on balance prior to downswings. Since this is what investors in mutual fund shares expect from expert management, they can't quarrel with that.

But Vickers' contention is that such buying or selling seems to have contributed to the changes, whether up or down. So the growing holdings of common stocks by ed Ivey's release that first night after the conviction. Along with these ideas came a tingling around his back and neck he had felt before when a fight was brewing.

"What's the matter, star-toter? Besides being a traitor, you're yeller too. How would you like me to mop up this ground with them fancy duds of yours?"

Youngblood was measuring the man, thinking that he was strong as a yearling bull, but maybe a little heavy to be very fast. He was also thinking that in the weeks ahead it would be nice for hotheads like this man to know that the lawmen of Carroll County were not pushovers but would fight, really fight.

He was surprised to hear his voice, quiet, almost calm. "Are you two fellows going to stay out of this?"

"I'm neutral," Long said. "I don't want no part of it." He had forgotten his orders about the horses. The other cowpoke sidled over beside Long to show his neutrality.

Youngblood took off his gunbelt and carefully leaned it with his hat and badge against the bottom of the wooden horse trough. There was no decent way to avoid the fight and he was glad of it.

The funds in recent years has added another and important factor to the many that the individual investor must take into account when assessing his own portfolio.

The pension fund money flows into stock more regularly than assets of the mutual funds, Natrella says. Since they often concentrate on the popular issues, their holdings tend to cut the floating supply of these stocks. The resultant thin market is credited with causing some of the wide swings in prices that have characterized the market in recent months.

Both Vickers and Natrella offered their findings as statistics and nothing more — no accusations, no recommendations.

But the validity of the findings may be disputed and any implications challenged by the fund-depositors for the savings of millions of Americans.

Misunderstanding Station Says

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Officials of Radio Station KOKY said today that misunderstandings with a Negro organization had been worked out and the Negroes would not picket the station again.

Pickets marched Monday and the Organization for the Destruction of Discrimination asked the station to hire more Negroes and make certain programming changes.

Joe Starr, vice president of the station, said today station officials and ODD officials met Monday night and "all differences have been resolved."

He called the situation a misunderstanding but made no further comment. All six disc jockeys and a secretary at the station are Negroes.

Edward W. Phelan, station manager, said the programming changes already had been made.

Yogi Called Off Bench to Win for Yanks

By JIM HACKLEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

During the years a decade or so ago when Ralph Houk was a reserve catcher under Yogi Berra, Yogi's specialty was winning games for the New York Yankees with vital hits.

Now, Houk is boss of the Yankees and Berra is a second-string catcher—but Yogi is still winning games with clutch hits.

He connected for one Tuesday night, a 10th-inning home run that carried the Yanks to an 8-7 victory over the Detroit Tigers and inched them a bit further in front in the drive for their 27th American League pennant.

Berra came off the bench as a pinch batter in the eighth and delivered a run with a sacrifice fly as the Yankees scored three times for a 7-5 lead. The Tigers countered with two runs in their half of the inning and Berra, who stayed in the game as a replacement for first-stringer Elston Howard, got his next crack in the 10th.

He responded with a shot into Tiger Stadium's upper right field seats off rookie reliever Bob Humphreys—the 350th home run of his 17-season career.

By winning the cliffhanger, the Yankees moved four games ahead of the Los Angeles Angels, who took second place away from Minnesota with a second straight shutout over the Twins, 9-0. In the only other American League game, Cleveland blanked Washington 3-0 behind Jim Perry's six-hit pitching.

The Los Angeles Dodgers held onto their half-game lead in the tense National League race with a 3-1 decision over Chicago after the second-place San Francisco Giants had won their seventh straight, 2-0 over Pittsburgh. Cincinnati trimmed St. Louis 6-2 in the NL's only other game.

Right-handers Eli Grba and Don Lee combined for the Angels' shutout over Minnesota, which followed up Dean Chance's one-hitter of the night before. Grba limited the Twins to four singles over seven innings. Lee turned them back without a hit over the last two.

The Angels tagged Jim Kant, the league's winningest southpaw, for four runs in the first seven innings and poured across five more in a ninth-inning spree against Jerry Arrigo and Ray Moore.

The Indians won their fourth in a row and dealt the Senators their fourth straight loss on Perry's tight pitching. Max Alvis, playing his first game in the majors, drove in the first Cleveland run with his first big league hit, a fourth-inning single against Claude Osteen.

Hot Weather Welcomed by Porkers

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP)—University of Arkansas Coach Frank Broyles used welcome warm weather Tuesday to work some poundage off his Porkers.

The Razorback coach sent his charges through conditioning drills and took a look at his rushing offense, viewed films and said he and his staff are still punitively juggling players.

Broyles said conditioning is his major problem.

"No one is in as good a shape as they should be," Broyles said. "That's not the fault of the boys. You just can't sweat off 10 or 15 pounds in 50 degree weather."

But Tuesday the temperature had edged up to the 70s, after several degrees of cool, damp weather.

Broyles said he may begin dividing up his three units—Big Red (offense and defense), Wild Hogs (defense) and Tush Hogs (offense) this week.

Injuries have been light thus far in drills. Garland Ridenour had three teeth removed Tuesday after an injury in practice Monday, then pulled a leg muscle Tuesday. Jim Williams, a standout tackle prospect, was sidelined by a bad bruise.

Broyles said he will work on conditioning Wednesday and hopes to begin pointing for the Hogs' opener with Oklahoma State by Friday. That game will be played Sept. 22 in Little Rock.

Wills, Sanford Keep Teams Fairly Close

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Mauri Wills of Los Angeles and Jack Sanford of San Francisco, two guys who rely on speed, have kept the first-place Dodgers and second-place Giants only a half-game apart in that National League pennant chase while continuing in pursuit of half-century-old records.

Wills, the fleet Dodger shortstop stole his 90th base, scored one run and drove in another with his 15th hit in 20 at-bats while Stan Williams and Ron Perranoski combined for a three-hitter in a 3-1 victory over the Chicago Cubs Tuesday night.

Sanford, the fireballing Giant pitcher, kept San Francisco right behind, scattering eight hits in a 2-0 triumph over Pittsburgh for his 22nd victory of the season—and his 6th in succession since he last lost on June 13.

Trying to eclipse Ty Cobb's record of 96 stolen bases for Detroit in 1915, Wills pilfered No. 90 in the first inning against the Cubs and became only the second player in major league history to pass the 90 mark. He now has 16 games remaining in which to tie or surpass Cobb's feat.

Wills, who has hit safely in his last 19 games while pulling his batting average to an even .300, has stolen 14 bases in the last six games and 30 in the last 25. Cobb set his record on a 15-game program. The Dodgers have played 14.

Sanford, meanwhile, is chasing an elusive record of 19 straight victories, set exactly 50 years ago by Rube Marquard of the New York Giants. With 17 games left, Sanford figures to get four more starts, enough to give him a shot at the mark if he continues to win.

Sanford is bucking the bigger odds. But he's been bucking them since June 13, when his record stood at 6-6. What did he think about the triumph that propelled him closer to Marquard's record? "This is ridiculous. Nobody wins 16 in a row."

Only one other game was scheduled in the NL Tuesday, and in that one, third-place Cincinnati remained 5½ games behind with 15 games to play by beating St. Louis 6-2.

In the American League, the first-place New York Yankees edged Detroit 8-7 in 10 innings, the Los Angeles Angels moved into second place and dropped Minnesota to third by whipping the Twins 9-0 and Cleveland blanked Washington 3-0. The other clubs were not scheduled.

Bob Purkey (21-5) won it for the Reds with a three-hitter, giving up home runs to Stan Musial and Ken Boyer before holding the Cardinals hitless after the fourth inning. Two former Cardinals—Don Blasingame and Eddie Kasko—drove in the key runs for the defending NL champs. Blasingame snapped a 2-2 tie with a single in the fifth and Kasko wrapped it up with a three-run homer off Bob Gibson (15-12) in the ninth.

Figures Hope Should Down the Leopards

By BILL SIMMONS
Associated Press Staff Writer

Blytheville's Chicks, with only one demonstrated offensive loss thus far, go against North Little Rock's gang-tackling defense this weekend.

That's just one of the problems. Undefeated Fort Smith and El Dorado collided head-on; unbeaten Hot Springs meets lucky Little Rock Hall High; and once-beaten Texarkana visits untried Pine Bluff.

In addition, six good Class AA conference games are on tap and there are several interesting Class AA intra-district battles set.

After a 15-5-1 showing in the first round, here's the second:

NORTH LITTLE ROCK 14, Blytheville 7. Barry Hughes ran roughshod over Searcy, but North Little Rock allowed Subiaco only 20 yards total offense.

FORT SMITH 20, El Dorado 7. The Grizzlies get on the track of a second straight Big Nine championship.

LITTLE ROCK HALL 21, Hot Springs 14. It's not surprising anymore when Hall wins the ones it shouldn't.

LITTLE ROCK CENTRAL 28, Little Rock Catholic High 0. After the Bengals battered Benton 41-7, what else?

FINE BLUFF 20, Texarkana 0. Another setback for the rebuilding program at Texarkana and a good start for the Zebbras.

Now, for a swing through Class AA.

Fayetteville 14, Siloam Springs 0. Bouncing back from a beating at the hands of Harrison.

Harrison 21, Mountain View 6. Harrison, turned toughie, will be too much for the Class A club.

Rogers 12, Bentonville 0. Springdale and Bentonville fumbled to a 0-0 tie last weekend in the rain.

Rogers found Siloam Springs easy. St. Anne's of Fort Smith 14, Springdale 7. With misgivings, but the Buffalos may be ready to start another victory string.

Jonesboro 24, Subiaco 13. The Golden Hurricane is geared for another District 2AA title, but Subiaco will be a good test.

Van Buren 13, Huntsville 0. The Pointers fell to Fort Smith's power by nine points last weekend, and this time they'll be toughest.

Forrest City 13, DeWitt 7. Class AA against Class A, but interesting all the way.

Helena 14, Newport 13. Two challengers to Jonesboro's drive play for all the marbles early.

Walnut Ridge 12, Paragould 7. Walnut Ridge battered McCrory last week while Paragould was losing to Helena.

West Memphis 21, Batesville 7. The Blue Devils are also contenders to the District 2AA throne.

It could be rough, though, since Jonesboro only beat Batesville 14-0.

Wynne 14, Brinkley 0. A matter of not having Jon Brittenum at Brinkley. A matter of Wynne being a Class AA team.

Benton 19, Camden 14. Alvin Jones' little bit extra will make the difference in a good ballgame.

Conway 24, Searcy 0. Another hard one for the new member of District 3AA.

Morrilton 14, Jacksonville 13. The Devil Dogs whipped St. Anne's and graduation hit hard at Jacksonville.

Russellville 20, Mabelvale 6. Ronnie South's play-calling will carry the Cyclone.

Crossett 20, Malvern 14. A good defense and a good offense will get the best of a good offense.

Smackover 13, Fairview 7. Loss No. 2 for Fairview while Smackover surges back from an eight-point loss to El Dorado.

Hope 21, DeQueen 6. The masters of Texarkana will also master DeQueen.

Prescott 12, Magnolia 7. A Class A team to upset Class AA Magnolia.
